A woman with long brown hair, wearing a vibrant red, ruffled, one-shoulder dress, is sitting on a light-colored, textured sofa. She is smiling broadly at the camera, holding a tall flute glass filled with champagne in her left hand. Her right arm is extended along the back of the sofa. In the foreground, a bottle of Moët & Chandon champagne is chilling in a silver bucket, with a small glass of champagne next to it. The background consists of light-colored, vertically pleated curtains.
