Octave Tempo Action Management

The challenge

Within industrial operations departments, managers constantly allocate activities, tasks, plans and projects across individuals and teams that require efficient action management. If teams record actions on paper, spreadsheets, word processor documents, emails or disconnected applications, coordination and focus suffer, lowering operational performance.

The National Research Council Canada recommends that an organization's action management system should provide delegates with clear directions, focus on disciplined execution and foster compliance with plans and standards. It also advises organizations to monitor ongoing adherence to performance, project or operational plans and to manage and address performance issues.

"Tempo Operations Management has contributed to the efficient and stable operation of INPEX assets. Information is standardized and accurate."

Jinsen Li, General manager, information and technology unit, INPEX

How Tempo Action Management provided the solution

To remedy these pains, companies worldwide use Tempo Action Management. It allows users to assign, define, manage and track actions related to the processes managed in Tempo Operations Management (formerly j5 Operations Management Solutions). These actions have a standard workflow that allows users to manage their part of the process with ease.

Tempo Action Management allows users to monitor and complete tasks with clean dashboards, reports and email notifications customized to each user, job role or action source.
